

Equipment Exchange Program

All medical devices have a defined life cycle for quality, safety and continued effectiveness in meeting performance specifications. With the established Preventative Maintenance procedure performed every 2 years, pNeuton Ventilators and MACS CPAP Systems have an expected maximum 10-year life. For the safety of product use, Airon Corporation recommends an Equipment Exchange process. The Equipment Exchange Program is designed to replace devices that have reached their expected end of life with new equipment at a discount.

Purchase orders for the Equipment Exchange must be issued in advance of the workmanship. All orders must be placed on a direct basis to Airon, not through Airon distributors. Upon receipt of a purchase order, a Returned Goods Authorization Number (RGA) will be issued for the unit to be shipped to Airon. No device will be accepted without a properly issued RGA number. Please contact Customer Service at 1-888-448-1238 or AironCustomerService@Inspiration-Healthcare.com to schedule an Equipment Exchange and obtain an RGA.
